

COMPETITIVENESS AND QUALITY IN TRANSPORT SERVICES

Sevastiyan Stavriev¹

Summary

The development of the analyzed competitiveness and factors indicates the influence in the transport of cargo goods and passengers. Possibilities for improving the quality of transport for different types of transport are considered. The types of transport are taken into account, providing comfort and accessibility in the transportation of passengers and practicality and economy in the transportation of goods over different distances according to the preferences of the users. The possibilities for development of the transport sector are considered too.

Key words: types of transport; transportation; competitiveness; quality of transport

JEL: R40

¹ PhD student with Department: Economics of Transport and Energetics, Faculty: Economics of Infrastructure Faculty, UNWE, E-mai: sevas1825@abv.bg